

HEINITZBURG CASTLE of Windhoek Namibia

Centrally located, Hotel Heinitzburg is a short two minute drive from the heart of Windhoek. Commissioned by Count Von Schwerin for his fiancé, Margarethe von Heinitz in 1914, Heinitzburg is now an enchanting castle hotel overlooking Windhoek. Heinitzburg combines 19th century European charm with modern comforts. Completed in 1996 in the style of the old castle, the hotel has ten spacious, generously appointed rooms each with its own superb view. Heinitzburg's elegant ambiance is made possible by its unique design, from four poster beds and Italian ceramic tiles to custom fitting and specifically created hand-made wooden furnishings. A full continental breakfast is served in your choice of settings: outdoors, in the garden café overlooking the city and the Khomas Hochland, and indoors, in the richly-finished Aschenborn Room located in the old Castle. Enjoy a glass of sherry or the winter favorite, Gluhwein, served by the fire place in the Ritterraum – Room of the Knights. You would almost expect the countess herself to emerge from the adjoining dining room as you lounge amidst wood-paneled elegance.
